

Running Creek Gallery Artist Co-op

Starting July 7th, Deanna Freng of Running Creek Gallery will re-organize her current agreement with artists to form a membership co-op. After July 7th all artists who would like to show and sell their art at the gallery will pay a $35 monthly fee. Commissions on sales will be 10%. This fee will provide each artist with wall space, bin space and/or shelf space to accommodate a selection of their work. Priority space will go to new work. Artwork will be rotated every two to three weeks. Artists are encouraged to change out their work every eight to ten weeks.

Membership fees will also provide for:

- More comprehensive advertising
- An “artist of the month” feature in the local newspaper
- An “artist of the month” feature display at the gallery
- Opportunities to show at Elbert County Art and Music Association events for no charge
- Touch ups on shrink wrap etc.

Deanna has represented the artist community for many years, helping to promote our art and supporting art events. This co-op will help keep the gallery running to its full potential and help Deanna with the high cost of maintaining a retail space. This is a great way to advertise your art and keep it visible in and newly re-organized, high traffic retail venue. If you choose to not participate in the co-op, and currently have work in the gallery, please pick up your work by July 7th.

Payments can be made monthly, quarterly or annually. Annual memberships receive a $25 discount. Membership fees are tax deductible! Fill out the attached form and mail to:
